limitation bill passed last spring, the Utah legislature is chomping at the bit to check city budgets. Provo officials claim that last week, Provo officials and county state legislators the on law, House Bill 302, should be amended or rescinded when the legislature meets for its January session.

Officials told the legislators that as in the bill, which limits the amount of revenues cities can raise. In their population growth and per capita income, could slash budget by as much as 20 percent in the next four years. They said major cutbacks in city services could be felt by next year although it is uncertain where the cuts might come. Provo is not alone in its opposition to the tax limitation bill. In a September convention, the Utah League of Cities and Towns voted to ask the Legislature to rescind the bill.

is not as well known or trusted as the standard chemical anesthetics, the practice has not become very popular in the U.S., Pace said.

The ancient oriental practice of acupuncture has crossed the Pacific and is being used on a limited basis in the Provo area. According to theory, the needles, when placed in strategic areas of the skin, release endorphins, a type of morphine which the brain can produce to relieve pain.

Khomeini backed, now leader for life

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The Iranian people, in a vast show of support for the Moslem elder who has made the holding of American hostages part of a holy crusade, voted overwhelmingly Monday to make Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini their political overlord for life.

In other developments: A pro-government newspaper in Panama said Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, recuperating from medical treatment at a Texas Air Force base, would be given asylum in that Central American nation. But Panamanian government officials denied it.

A bomb blast slightly damaged the exterior of the Frankfurt, West Germany, branch of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. The U.S. bank last week obtained a West German court order to seize Iranian assets in West Germany because of an alleged loan default.

Carter hat toss to stay low-key

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter plans to keep his re-election announcement Tuesday a low-key affair because of the Iran crisis, but campaign aides are pushing hard to raise $2 million this week in a coast-to-coast series of fundraisers.

U.S. - Libya ties threatened

WASHINGTON — The Carter administration is reviewing U.S. ties with Libya and is considering options that include severing relations because of a mob attack on the American Embassy in Tripoli, officials said Monday.

The embassy attack Sunday was the latest in a number of violent incidents in Islamic countries and involved a mob proclaiming solidarity with Iran who are holding 50 American hostages in Tehran.

State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said the administration is conducting a "general review" of relations with Libya, and he criticized the Libyan government's response to Sunday's mob attack as "inadequate."

Carter said the administration stance on the hostage situation in Iran remains unchanged and that U.S. officials still are pursuing peaceful means to free the 50 hostages held in Tehran. He cited action before the United Nations and the scheduling of a Dec. 10 hearing before the World Court.

Terrorists ambush sailors, kill 2

TOA BAJA, Puerto Rico — Terrorist gunmen ambushed a U.S. Navy bus on a lonely country road early Monday, killing two sailors and wounding 10 other servicemen and women in the bloodiest attack ever against the military on this U.S. commonwealth island.

No one claimed responsibility for the attack, but Navy commanders blamed it on radical groups that have long sought to end Navy gunnery practice at the Puerto Rican out-land of Vieques. A pro-independence terror group recently threatened to step up anti-Navy violence.

In Washington, White House press secretary Jody Powell said President Carter deplored the attack as "a despicable act of murder" inconsistent with the political attitudes of most Puerto Ricans.

Three of those wounded in the dawn attack were Navy enlisted women, the Navy said. It said two of the wounded were in critical condition, five were in serious condition and three others were treated and released.

Relatives who said they were notified by the navy, identified the dead as John Robert Ball, 29, of Madison, Wis., a communications expert, and Emil E. White, 20, of Charlotte Amalie, St. Thomas, in the Virgin Islands.

Ball's family said he was driving the bus at the time of the ambush.

The yellow bus was taking 18 Navy communications technicians — all enlisted personnel — from the Sabana Seca Navy base in this town 10 miles from San Juan to work at a transmitting tower about five miles away, across non-Navy land.

At a spot where a narrow two-lane asphalt highway passes a factory and a driveway, police said, a van blocked the path of the bus and terrorists opened fire, apparently with a shotgun and pistols.

Bert, Ham, Billy are burdens

WASHINGTON — Jimmy Carter's reputation for personal integrity has remained virtually unblemished during his three years in office, but his re-election effort could suffer from publicity regarding Bert Lance, Hamilton Jordan and his brother Billy.

Carter hired Bert Lance, his former banker, as director of the Office of Management and Budget. Now, Lance is going to trial on charges of banking conspiracy.

Meanwhile, a special prosecutor is setting up shop in New York to investigate the claim of two tax-evading disco owners that Hamilton Jordan had smug cocaine in a visit to Studio 54 in New York.

There may also be lingering damage from the publicity generated by Billy Carter's mismanagement of the family peanut business and the fruitless investigation of it by special counsel Paul Curran, along with Billy's dealings with Libyan government officials.

Church farm will pay taxes

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho — A Mormon Church farm in Bonneville County has lost its property tax exemption.

County commissioners, in a meeting Monday, voted unanimously to back up earlier action by assessor John Wasden and revoke the exempt status of the 480-acre farm near Osgood, northwest of Idaho Falls.

It's an agreement between the farm's owners, the Idaho Falls and Idaho Falls West Stakes of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and the farm's operator led to the decision.

County attorney Robert Fanning said that, under Idaho law, church property which is normally tax exempt is taxed when it is leased.

MX sites not near population

CARSON CITY, Nev. — Air Force officials said Monday there's nothing to reports of maps hinting that the MX missile launching system will be built within 50 miles of heavily-populated areas of Utah.

Gen. Guy Hecker and an assistant, Maj. John Gordon, said many maps exist but all are for planning purposes of one sort or another — and no "final" map has been drawn.

The Air Force spokesmen also said it's possible that the number of remote valleys in Utah and Nevada needed for the MX system could be reduced under terms of a plan to reduce spacing between launch sites.

Deporting Iranians questioned

WASHINGTON — The Carter administration's push to deport Iranians has set off an intense debate over the constitutionality of enforcing immigration laws more strictly against one nationality than against others.

Civil libertarians argue that the administration move violates the constitutional guarantee of equal protection of the laws. They say the Bill of Rights applies as much to aliens as to American citizens.

Administration officials reply with a long string of Regional decisions supporting deportation of aliens who have violated the terms of their visas.

The officials argue that they are acting only against those Iranians who have violated immigration laws. They concede, however, that millions of persons from other nations face no immediate risk of deportation despite the same sort of violations.

Judge orders librarian rehired

SALT LAKE CITY — A federal judge has ordered fired Davis County Librarian Jeanne Layton reinstated with back pay by Jan. 14 unless the local merit board decides her firing was legal.

U.S. District Court Judge Bruce Jenkins said in an 11-page decision Monday that Miss Layton "stands jobless through what may well be inappropriate action on the part of her employer."

She was fired Sept. 28 by the County Library Board, which included Davis County Commissioner Morris Swapp following her refusal to remove the novel "Americana" from library shelves.

Sonia still fights for ERA

WASHINGTON — Sonia Johnson, the embattled president of the National Council for the ERA, called on a federal judge who is a high official in the Mormon church to disqualify himself from a case potentially crucial in the fight over the Equal Rights Amendment.

Mrs. Johnson, still awaiting a verdict in her own church trial arising from her activities on behalf of the ERA, told a news conference Monday she doubted U.S. District Judge Marion J. Callister in Boise, Idaho, could be impartial because if he ruled in favor of the ERA, "he would lose his position in the church."

The judge is a member of a group of priesthood leaders known in the church hierarchy as the Regional Representatives of the Twelve. He was described as one of the 100 highest ranking members among the four million worldwide members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Addition

The project is scheduled to open for bidding in February. Construction should be finished by the summer of 1981.

The architectural firm of Markham and Markham Architects and Engineers of Provo has designed the project so that construction can be carried on without interrupting services in the building.

Wells P. Cloward, director of BYU Food Services, said the new addition is needed to adequately serve BYU's large student body. When the Wilkinson Center was completed in 1964, it was designed to accommodate a student body of 15,000. Now the total student population stands at 26,000.

The addition to the main level of the Wilkinson Center will include eight multi-purpose rooms adjacent to the cafeteria where students and faculty can meet.

The third-level extension will include a formal dining area called the President's Room and four multi-purpose rooms for luncheons, meetings and receptions.

The new addition will extend south from the second and third levels of the Wilkinson Center to the sidewalk next to the loading dock area. It will bridge the creek, protecting it from the weather but permitting large trucks to enter.

Lengthwise, the new structure will extend from the existing pedestrian bridge on the east to the end of the loading dock or west.

A pedestrian ramp, general traffic and disabled persons will lead into the southeast corner of the addition, eliminating the need for the pedestrian which currently the dock area.

Runaways

"They made me face reality," said Sharon of her nine-month stay at the Youth Center. "They sat me down and made me really look at myself. They scared the hell out of me."

"Running away is dangerous. It's just a day to day, ride to ride survival," said Sharon. "In the back of my mind I always wondered, 'If I hitch a ride with this guy is he going to take me out on some dirt road? It's a frightening feeling to sleep in an open field not knowing who you might run into.'"

Vernon Fehlberg, chief of intake at the Provo Juvenile Court, said most kids feel that they are immortal. "They've read books and seen movies, but they still think it's never going to happen to them. It takes a pretty good jolt to get them off of that."

Thirteen-year-old Pam hitched a ride to California with a truck driver and ended up staying with him awhile. "Running away is fun when you have someone to take care of you," Pam said. "It's when you get in with bad people and you're on your own that things get bad. It's no fun when you don't eat for days and you don't have anywhere to sleep but outside."

Pam said she became involved in child pornography and had led a sexually active life while on the road.

Fifteen-year-old Meredith had been in Seattle, Wash., after her father raped her. Her second night on the road an older man raped her and she was molested several times before reaching her destination.

A sociological study based on 215 runaways found that 85 percent reported sexual abuse while hitchhiking and that there was a high incidence of sexual abuse and incest in the homes that the runaways had come from.

At 16 Jan was thrown out of her home because of her ungovernable behavior. She tried living with her father, but didn't like having to care for an alcoholic, so decided to try and make it on her own.

Jan reverted to selling drugs as her main source of income. She would do "sexual favors" for doctors in exchange for prescriptions which she sold. Jan's greatest "battles" came from hustlers, police and people who picked her up hitchhiking.

Fehlberg said there is no specific reason for runaways to run to or from Utah either. "Utah is just on the way to someplace else. They don't want to stay in Utah," he said. "A lot of kids want to go to the coast or Las Vegas and Utah is the small end of a funnel of highways leading west. They aren't coming to Utah because we're a little haven."

Running away is a status offense, a crime that can only occur because of age and not a criminal offense and the police or the courts do not have jurisdiction. The Division of Family Services has jurisdiction over the teenagers.

"The police make a judgement whether it is to return the kid to his home, if he lives in the area, or if the teenager will be in danger if he's returned home," said Paul Dean, a DFS counselor. "They bring them to us if they aren't sure everything will be OK when they take the child home."

The Juvenile Court in Provo also handles the out-of-state runaways and those runaways who commit criminal offenses while in Utah.

"Our main purpose is to get them back where they belong," said Fehlberg. "We're concerned with whether or not that kid is posing a problem to the people in Utah and that he doesn't become a financial burden. If he's hungry or broke it doesn't usually mean he'll go out and get a job. We don't want to inherit the problem. We try to get them home but when parents won't take any responsibility we try to help."

ist attacks Utah law, lenges Y police powers at Madalyn Murray O'Hare, the leader of the campaign that removed prayer from Utah's public schools, said she will file suit on the constitutionality of a recently passed Utah law that gives police power to the BYU Security/Police Department.

O'Hare, founder of an organization called the American Atheists, met with a group in Salt Lake City last weekend where she said she would also challenge the LDS Church's tax-exempt status in private land ownership in Utah.

Robert Kelsch and other BYU officials said they have a knowledge of the alleged lawsuit plans.

O'Hare, who headed a suit to force the Supreme Court to ban prayer and Bible in public schools, also plans to halt prayers at events, such as graduations, PTA meetings and sports events through court actions.

Ski buses scheduled for season

Saturday ski instruction and transportation to Sundance, Park West and Snowbird ski resorts will be provided by the Provo City Parks and Recreation Department, said Floyd Giles, parks and recreation director.

Buses will leave between 7 and 8 a.m. each Saturday. Sundance buses will return to Provo at staggered times throughout the day. Park West buses will return at 6:30 p.m.

Currently, Provo City is not planning to provide buses to Snowbird, but will add transportation to the ski package if enough students register to fill a bus.

The Sundance program begins Dec. 27. Class will be held again Dec. 29 and then each Saturday until six lessons have been completed. The cost is $53, and the student purchases his own ski pass.

Six weeks of Park West instruction begins Jan. 5. The cost is $27, and the student purchases his own ski pass.

The four week program at Snowbird includes both instruction and a lift pass for $40. If a bus is provided, it will cost an additional $4 per week.

"We usually take a couple hundred students at each place," Giles said. "We register the students and make sure they have transportation each week. We'll take children as young as 8-years-old."

Those interested in registering for a ski program should call the Provo Parks and Recreation Department at 375-1822, ext. 141.

White wins Heisman Trophy; Wilson places third in voting

NEW YORK (AP)—Tailback Charles White of Southern California, the second leading rusher in college football history, won the 1979 Heisman Trophy today, easily outdistancing last year's winner, Billy Sims of Oklahoma.

White received 453 first-place votes, 144 seconds and 48 thirds for a total of 1,695 points. Sims was a distant second with 773 points, including 82 first-place ballots, 180 seconds and 167 thirds.

Brigham Young quarterback Marc Wilson was third with 589 points. Wilson received 72 firsts, 124 seconds and 125 thirds.

White, who finished fourth in the Heisman balloting a year ago, carried each of the six geographical regions this time — the Northeast, Mid-Atlantic, South, Midwest, Southwest and Far West. Sims was runner-up in each district except the Far West, where he finished third behind Wilson.

White, a 6-foot, 185-pound senior from San Fernando, Calif., led the nation in rushing this season with 1,803 yards in 10 games. Sims was fourth with 1,506 yards, but 629 came in his last two games, after the balloting had begun.

The only other players to receive more than 100 votes were Ohio State quarterback Art Schlichter with 251 and Notre Dame running back Vagas Ferguson with 162. Schlichter received 19 firsts, 54 seconds and 86 thirds, while Ferguson had 12, 38 and 50.

The rest of the top 10 finishers were Southern Cal quarterback Paul McDonald, 92 points; South Carolina running back George Rogers, 81; Purdue quarterback Mark Herrmann, 54; Florida State nose guard Ron Simmons, 41, and Alabama quarterback Steadman Shealy, 32.

Although the Downtown Athletic Club of New York awards the trophy annually to "the outstanding college football player in the United States," all but three of the 44 previous winners were offensive backs, including flanker Johnny Rodgers of Nebraska in 1972.

The only linemen to win the Heisman were too-way ends, Larry Kelley of Yale in 1936 and Leon Hart of Notre Dame in 1949. Ohio State running back Archie Griffin, who captured the Heisman in 1974-75, is the only two-time winner.

In a telephone hookup from Los Angeles, White said he was "surprised because I really felt Billy (Sims) showed a strong comeback, especially the game he had against Nebraska."

Sims rushed for 247 yards against Nebraska on Nov. 24 in a game televised and he gained 282 against Missouri a week earlier.

"I watched the first half of the Nebraska game," White said. "Billy Sims, that's all I was thinking about."

White was the third Southern California player, all tailbacks, to win the Heisman. Mike Garrett was the 1965 winner and O.J. Simpson won in 1968.

White, who finished his career with 5,598 regular season yards, said his future plans call for teaching school, playing professional football, then entering the communications world.

Y wins Copper Classic

The BYU women's basketball team won its first Copper Classic championship by defeating Weber State 87-73 Saturday night in Logan.

The University of Utah won consolation honors, defeating Utah State 102-81.

BYU led Weber at halftime 37-30, and then scored the first 10 points of the second half to lead 47-30. With 12 minutes left in the game the Cougars built up a 28-point lead. "The first 10 minutes of the second half may be the best 10 minutes we have played this season," assistant coach David Porter said. He added that the zone defense was a key in pulling out to that big lead.

Tina Gunn led BYU with 31 points, followed by Jackie Beene with 15. In a balanced scoring effort the rest of the way, the Cougars had four more players with more than five points each.

Penny Wanberg and Cindy Carlson led the Wildcats with 16 points each.

Gunn and Beene were named to the all-tournament team, with Gunn also being named MVP. Others named to the team were Wanberg and two players from Utah — Jane Quimby and Monica Starrett.

Other scorers for the Cougars against Weber were Hunter with 8 points; Simpson, 7; Hershberger, 6;

Burkinshaw, 6; Cox, 4; and Tebbis, 4.

How to Achieve Total Financial Freedom

A MUTUAL CONCERN. We've never met and probably never will, but I think we share a common interest. That interest is in achieving complete and total financial freedom.

Recently my net worth reached the magic million dollar mark, and it only took me 48 months to achieve that.

That might not impress you, but if you had seen me just a few years ago, you might wonder how I did it. I lived in Denver then, in a cramped, tumbled down house at 2545 South High Street. My wife was expecting our second child and we were so broke we had to borrow $150.00 from a relative just to buy food and pay the rent.

By the way, I know I didn't make a million dollars because of my superior intellect — I barely got through Ames High School (Ames, Iowa) with a C average. I did a little better later on but I soon realized that a salaried job was not the way to become financially free. If you'll stop and think, you'll realize that millionaires do not work 10, 20, or 50 times harder or longer than you.

FINANCIAL FREEDOM. It seems that most people who are charging for financial advice have studied how to "do it" but have never actually "done it" themselves. You will find as you read my formulas, that since I have actually achieved total financial freedom myself, that you will receive from me more than just the motivation to achieve your own financial independence, but a workable step-by-step plan to actually do it.

STEP-BY-STEP. Contained in the work entitled How To Wake Up The Financial Genius Inside You are the various formulas which will show you exactly how you can do each of the following:

- buy income properties for as little as $100 down.
- begin without any cash.
- put $10,000 cash and more in your pocket each time you buy (without selling property).
- compounds your assets at 100% yearly.
- legally avoid paying federal or state income taxes.
- buy bargains at one-half the market value.

MORE LEISURE. If you apply these formulas and methods you will find in a very short time, you will be able to do almost anything you care to do, and I think, at that time, you will find as I have, that spending several weeks on the beaches of Hawaii, or on the ski slopes of Colorado, or just sightseeing in Europe, or any other place in the world, you begin to understand what real freedom is all about.

Most people think that it would be impossible to do some of the things listed above. For example, to buy a property, and at the same time put $10,000 (or more) cash in your pocket without selling the property, or to buy a property with little or no cash down.

Believe me, it is possible and fairly simple. This is exactly how most wealthy people actually do make 10, 20, or 50 times more money than you do.

Mark Haroldsen reached his first million in 48 months
"I've found that most people just need a very specific financial road map to follow... they can do what I've done."

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH. While I was struggling on making my first million, I often thought how nice it would be to have the personal advice and counsel from someone like Howard Hughes or J. Paul Getty.

What would I have been willing to pay for this service? I can tell you one more thing for sure, it would have been a lot more than the $10.00 that I'm going to ask you to invest in your financial future.

country lose, not because they lack intelligence, or even willpower, but because of procrastination, or lack of action — please don't be like the masses. Make a decision while you have this paper in your hands. Make a decision now to either act now and send for my material or immediately return this paper. If your decision is to order, do it now, not later. Otherwise you may lose by default.

TO ORDER, simply take any size paper, write the words "Financial Freedom," your name and address, and send it along with "... more than 100,000 people have discovered that my formulas will provide the road map that can lead to total financial freedom..."

FOR YOUR FUTURE. What will this $10.00 actually do for you? It will give you a complete step-by-step plan that you can follow to become totally and completely financially independent.

Please try to understand my dilemma. I'm not a New York advertising agency with all their professional skill and manpower to write a powerful and persuasive ad to convince you that I can make you financially independent. I am just somebody who has actually "done it", and can really show you how to "do it".

TEST IT YOURSELF. It's really quite frustrating to have something so valuable as I know I have, but lack the skill to convince people to try it for themselves. I hope by my simple direct approach I can convince you to try my formulas.

INDECISION — THE COSTLY DECISION. It seems the majority of the people in our rich check for $10.00 to Mark O. Haroldsen, Inc. Dept. Y-100, Tudor Mansion Bldg., 4751 H. L. Layday Blvd., Salt Lake City, Utah 84117.

If you send for my materials now, I will also send you documents that will show you precisely how you can borrow from $20,000 to $200,000 at 2% above the prime rate using just your signature as collateral.

IT'S GUARANTEED. If you are still somewhat skeptical, and believe me, when I started out I certainly was, because of the many people in the world trying to deceive others, I would encourage you to postdate your check by 30 days, and I promise a guarantee that it will not be deposited for at least those 30 days, and if for any reason you do not think that what I have sent you lives up, in every aspect to what I told you in the letter, send the material back, and I will quickly, without question, refund you money and send back your own uncashed check or money order.

U's Randy Gruninger skates around Northern Colorado University during Friday night's opening series with NCU. Gruninger scored at-trick (3 goals), enroute to the Cougar victory, 6-2. The Icecats lost Saturday game against this same NCU team, 5-3.

Ic cats split weekend play against Northern Colorado

BYU Ice Hockey skated to one victory and one loss over the weekend in conference hockey action, splitting Northern Colorado in Friday's 6-2, and losing to same NCU team in Saturday's game, 5-3. The split moved the Icecats to a 1-3 conference record and a 2-5 overall mark. The play of the team over the weekend was up to par," said Coach Joe Bernardy. "The Icecats will play a home game today at 6:15 against the Salt Lake State Wolverines at the Hygeia Ice Center. The Icecats have one goal and had two assists, Rick Bracha had one goal and four assists, and Malcolm Kano pocketed one goal. In Saturday's action, Jim Barker scored one goal, as did Rick Bracha and Wade Faraway. The Icecats resume play after today on Friday night and Saturday nights in Bountiful. They will take on Colorado State University in conference games. Both contests begin at 10:45 p.m. The Icecats play most of their home games in Bountiful because of the lack of facilities in Provo.

The highlight of the weekend action came when Randy Gruninger scored a hat-trick (3 goals) during Friday's game. He also assisted one assist, while E. Rutherford scored.

Season ends for teams in football

The flag football season ended last week with four teams winning championship honors in their respective divisions, which included the 1977 teams in this tournament. The ranked and undefeated Colorado won the A division by defeating the Washington-Dele 37-28. The 3-A division was won by the Los Machos 38-22. A title was taken by the Animal, which defeated the Peanuts by a 4-0 score and in the 1-B class, Flyers prevailed beating the Romway 25-0 to win the title.

'Christmas Around World'

Costumes, culture, dance

By JANACE BRUCKLER
Universe
Entertainment Writer

Five months of practicing, creating routines, designing and choosing appropriate national costumes will culminate on Dec. 7 and 8 in the International Folk Dancers' presentation of the 20th annual "Christmas Around The World."

This year's theme, "It's A Small World," is a tribute to the year of the child said Mary Bee Jensen, founder and director of the International Folk Dancers. "The performance, taken after Disneyland's 'Small World,' looks at Christmas through the eyes of a child," she said.

Costumes were chosen to portray the cultural dress of each nation, according to Mrs. Jensen. "A kaleidoscope of colorful costumes will acquaint the audience with the cultures of the dances we perform," she continued. "Some costumes are replicas of originals, but we are getting more authentic costumes as we travel."

This year's presentation will be a flashback of the group's six-week summer tour of Eastern Europe and Russia. Their tribute will include dances from Poland, the USSR, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria.

The Christmas spectacular will include 264 student folk dancers plus 90 1956-1978 BYU alumni dancers. "There is no other place in the United States where you can see 354 dancers perform an educational picture of the peoples of the world," said the director.

The show will begin with a Krakowiak festival dance, followed by a Czechoslovakian a waltz dance. The cultural festival will continue with a Spanish Sweet, a Chinese ribbon dance, a Mexican hat dance, a Russian cossack dance and a flamenco solo.

Other countries represented in this performance, sponsored by the College of Physical Education, are Lithuania, Japan, Scotland, Armenia, Austria and the United States. "Through these dances, we will display what happens at Christmas time in different countries of the world," Mrs. Jensen said.

Guest specialists from all over the world are brought in to help choreograph the program, said Mrs. Jensen. "We are going to produce a highly professional show with the top technical and sound people," she said. "It is going to be a delightful and amazing evening."

The folk dancers have worked hard to achieve excellence and expertise in their work, said Mrs. Jensen. "As far as I am concerned, it is a small world after all because the more you know about a country the better you can adapt to their culture."

The International Folk Dancers have toured Europe each summer for the past 15 years. In 1964, they were the first folk dance team to represent the United States at the international festivals.

In 1974, Mrs. Jensen was selected as the official delegate for the United States by the Confederation of International Organizations of Folklore Festivals.

"I have seen programs like ours in the mission field. It gives people a different perception of BYU and an understanding and concept of the LDS people," said folk dancer Jack Fillmore, a junior from Annabella, Utah, majoring in pre-med.

As well as directing the folk dancers' tours, Mrs. Jensen helps choreographs many of the dances, programs the concerts and designs and supervises the purchasing and sewing of the costumes. She also teaches classes and directs workshops as an associate professor of physical education at BYU.

In addition to their European tours, the folk dancers regularly perform in the United States. They have appeared in New York

Actor has 'the right look'

By ARLES GRIFFITH
Universe
Entertainment Writer

you want to make it in Hollywood movies, you have to have "the look," a belief in self and someone believes in you, says Joseph Bottoms.

the young movie star, plays Lt. Charles in Walt Disney's coming movie, "The Black Hole," said in an interview Wednesday Hollywood is looking for a "physicality" in prospective actors and actresses.

When you walk in and ask for a job, they tell you that you don't look 'together' enough, but you didn't take it personally," he said.

After that, they're after that cereal look, and unless you can't take it, they may tell you, "You're too short." Your hair just isn't it."

Bottoms said that because of this, some of his friends had changed their looks to accommodate the requirements. He does advocate this type of change, however, and is a person must live in himself and not let his "emotional" needs affect him.

the actor stressed the importance of finding a woman who believes in him. "Once you've done it," he said, "you're free."

Bottoms says he has had that type of experience in his manager, Bert Ralston, to whom he attributes much of his success.

The class, Art and Design 261R, will be offered Wednesday evenings at 5:30 in B-215 AC. Offered to art majors and non-majors, the course will be taught by special art instructor Jackman.

The course is usually held only during fall semester. However, owing to popular demand, it will be offered during the next semester also.

JOSEPH BOTTOMS
... star of Walt Disney's "Black Hole"

He also sees his role in television's "Holocaust" as an important factor in gaining the reputation he now has. Bottoms played survivor Rudi Weiss in the special series.

In addition to acting, Bottoms says he would like to try his hand at directing or producing movies, "just to get a little taste of the other side of the industry."

The 25-year-old actor got his movie debut with his role in "Love Life," with Yvette Mimieux. However, that film was never completed. He later appeared in "Stranger in Town" with Lloyd Bridges, and his first lead came in "The Dove," produced by Gregory Peck, in which he played a young boy who sails around the world.

Bottoms says his current movie, "The Black Hole," will be the last great science fiction movie made on earth.

"The next big box office hit will be made in outer space," he predicts.

A sensitive and energetic individual, Bottoms displays a "growing boy" image which is quite apparent in the studio commissary, where he orders three entrees and side dishes and eats every bite. He even does a Mickey Mouse imitation for some of his closest friends.

The movie star is also an avid supporter of ecology and has purchase 200 acres of land near Santa Barbara, Calif., "so the developers won't be able to build anything on it."

He is also a supporter of "Pacem Im Maerbus," a group dedicated to cleaning up the world's oceans.

Concerning his future in the movie industry, Bottoms said, "There are very few good scripts coming out of Hollywood now, but if a good one comes along, I'll take it. You just don't take everything that comes along because a lot of people will promise you things that never come true."

Bagpipes to blow at ethnic activity

Bagpipe music and ethnic dancing will be the bill of fare at a Scottish-Irish Night scheduled for Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in E-250 HFAC.

The event, sponsored by the music department, is a special program offered in conjunction with a class taught by Professor Larry Shumway. The class is Music 303, "Music Cultures of the World," a relatively new offering which examines the various instruments and international music styles of peoples around the globe.

The public is invited to attend the Wednesday night program, free of charge. The event will feature Michael O'Connor and his group of musicians.

Not since the League of Nations debate in 1919 has the U.S. Senate found itself playing such an important role in U.S. foreign policy. The outcome of the Senate debate on SALT II may well set the tone for U.S. soviet relations for the next decade. Some believe that SALT II is merely a means whereby the Soviet Union will gain strategic superiority over the United States. Other believe that a defeat of SALT II will bring about an unnecessary and unwanted arms race and will increase international tension. This Forum Assembly will present leading spokesmen for both points of view — men who have participated in the formulation of U.S. policy towards strategic arms limitation.

Ad for preference dates brings about engagement

Blind dates, least of which are advertised openly to the public, seldom lead to marriage. But one enterprising BYU man, who saw preference fast approaching and himself without a date, advertised his predicament which resulted in his engagement to the blind date.

Kay Ellis Anderson and Janae Clark recently became engaged as a result of a preference dance advertisement banner offering blind dates for BYU men and women who did not have a date to the November 3 festivities. A photo of the banner appeared in the October 23 issue of The Daily Universe.

"Doug Stewart originated the idea of advertising for blind dates to the preference activities," Anderson said. "I decided to participate, and by chance got a date with Janae."

The calls were monitored by a rotating team of men who answered the phone. Dates were by chance since the man who answered the phone was automatically matched to the caller should she decide to accept.

"My roommate encouraged me to call the number after she had called them," Miss Clark said. "At first I was hesitant, but she finally convinced me to call and use the name Polly Provo."

By chance, Kay answered the call and, after considerable prompting, Janae revealed her true name to him.

Kay asked Janae to the football game and she accepted. After the game, Janae asked him to preference but by that time he had already been asked.

"Since we didn't go to preference that weekend, we didn't see each other until the following Tuesday for the devotionals," Clark said. "But it wasn't long after that I knew we would get married."

How long did it take? "Four dates," Kay asked Janae to marry him on Thanksgiving Day.

Discount coupon holders try to sell tickets

By JUDD RYAN

With less than three weeks until expiration, many holders of half-fare airline coupons are desperately trying to use or sell their vouchers. Some have turned to "coupon dealers" for help.

United and American Airlines distributed the free coupons in May to entice passengers to fly their routes. The coupons permit travelers to fly on most domestic flights for half price.

As the Dec. 15, deadline to use the discount tickets approaches, Utahns are among those trying to make a profit on their unused coupons. Classified ads from buyers and sellers have cropped up around the country.

Ladawn Nelson, a former BYU student who now lives in Salt Lake City, buys, sells and exchanges half-fare coupons. "Most of my customers are businessmen who want to save money," Miss Nelson said. "I sometimes sell them to travel agencies."

"As a travel agency, we will sell coupons for people if they want us to, but we will not buy coupons from individuals and resell them," said Janet Berryessa of Murdock Travel Inc. in Provo. "More and more people are flying now because of the coupons. They have really increased air travel," she said.

As the deadline gets closer, the demand for the vouchers and the prices that they bring have been changing greatly.

"People definitely want to sell their coupons to get some use out of them before the deadline," Miss Nelson said. "A couple of weeks ago I bought 80 of them in one day."

"When I first started I was buying coupons for $40 and selling them for $50. Now I buy them for $15 and sell them for $25," she said.

Miss Nelson said that going through a coupon dealer has advantages over buying them from individual sellers. "We can handle it when people want to buy more than one or two coupons at a time," she said. "Last week I sold ten coupons to a group of dancers who wanted to use them for a tour they were taking."

Miss Nelson cautioned people to beware when buying the half-fare coupons. "United has reported that some counterfeit and stolen coupons have shown up," she said, adding that although the problem isn't widespread people should first inspect the coupons.

When the coupon giveaway was in operation spring, some people took short plane rides just to use the half-fare coupons that could be used on local flights later.

Travelers from Portland, Ore., drove to Salt Lake about 40 miles south and flew home at full fare to use coupons for use on trips to places such as New York or Chicago.

Y coed kidnapping suspect arraigned

A Lehi man was arraigned Monday in Eighth Circuit Court on charges of kidnapping a BYU woman and drunk driving, according to Robert Kelshaw, chief of BYU Security.

William Byron Kinsey, 23, was charged with third degree kidnapping and drunk driving after a vehicle against her will, Kelshaw said.

The woman, whose name is not being released, was in an area near Deseret Towers and was forced into a vehicle against her will, Kelshaw said.

"She was able to escape after a lengthy period of time," Kelshaw said.

The judge allowed no plea to be entered on the drunk driving charge said. The preliminary due to the suspect's hearing will be in emotional state, Clark January.
